A Word in Season.

Just at the present time the improvise Drug and Book Es. tablishment of J. C. Saur is un usually interesting, inasmuch as the Holiday Stock of Goods are being arranged, which occupies the attention of the force of the establishment day and night. We believe we are safe in saying that never before in the history of this house has such a display of ornamental at the age of 63 years. and useful articles been opened up to the eyes and tastes of our citizens. The "Little Dutchman" has completely outdone himself in his efforts to please the tastes, and at the same time accommodate the pocket-books of the citizens of Napoleon and surrounding country.

As the holidays are near at hand, and knowing that it is more blessed to give than receive, Saur has made it a point this season to collect a stock of articles from which none can and abuse, and now comes "Watchman" fail of finding something to please, no difference for whom intended, let it be a father, mother, brother, sister, aunt, uncle, niece, nephew, cousin, of whatever kin.

It would be the next thing the h lidays to be found at an idea of the extent and nature | Watchman! of the stock, we mention the one item of Gift Books, which comprises thousands of volumns. consisting of all the latest publications at prices never before heard of in this country. Think of it, a dollar book for 25 cents. printed on good paper. Here an acceptable present for anybody for the small outlay of 25c. Go and inspect these bargains early.

New designs in Albums, some thing new, useful and ornamental. Also, box papers and envelopes, cards and fancy stationery in endless variety.

Toilet Articles and Perfume Cases in new and elegant de signs. Gold Pens and Holders, and a profusion of articles suitable for Gitts. In fact Old Santa Claus has made Saur's his Headquarters.

In addition to this large display of Holiday Goods, Saur has in stock all the standard Drugs and Medicine: of the day, always fresh and pure. Trusses, Brushes of every description, Paints, Oils and Varnishes, the best and cheapest in the market. A complete display of Wall and Window Paper, Saur still holds his title as the Wall Paper King of the Northwest, and which he rightly possesses. Those on the lookout for goods in his line, or suitable ker. presents for the Holidays, all of which are sold at remarkably low prices, should not miss paying a visit to the Mammoth Drug and Book House of J. C. Saur, sign of the Crystal Mor- tended the funeral on Sunday.

... Notwithstanding the excellent condition of the roads for the last week or two. and the tendency of everybody to the county seat to pay taxes and trade, Liberty Center is having a fair trade; hitching room for teams is quite often at a premium, and as Uncle Dan expresses it, "you wet" business is not at all discouraging.

. Several pleasant anniversary parties have been given lately. One at the home of G. W. Wright, of the popular firm of G. W. Wright & Co., in furniture and undertaking, in honor of the 50th anniversary of the birth of Mrs. Wright. Another at the home of E. E. Ashley, in a reminder that he had reached the summit of half a century. Pleasant times and enjoyable dinners with fine presents are reported for both, but unfortunately for Tyro the anniversarists forgot that he, too, had a stomach that acquired something more tangible than wind, which left him out, and he can consequently speak no farther.

.... Mrs. Delilah Coon, wife of E. T. Coon died suddenly Friday morning, the 10th inst.,

Mrs. Coon had been ailing for a number of years but was as well as usual Thursday evening and was in her place in prayer meeting at the M. E. Church, where she was taken sick. She was carried home, soon became unconscious and lingered in that condition until 2 o'clock a. m. Friday, when she passed quietly away. Mother Coon was a peaceable, quiet, inoffensive and kind woman; an ardent christian, an affectionate wife and a good mother. She will be missed in the church. in the Sabbath school, in the class room, in her home. Peace to her ashes.

.... Alas, poor Tyro, "The way of the transgressor is hard." Scarcely are you out of one scrape until you are into another. It is plain to be seen that the truth hurts and should not be told. First came "American Citizen," with a handful of rubbish to fling at you; then "Pedro" with bilge-water and slop, followed by "Loyal Citizen" with billingsgate in the "effulgence of his intellect," from the jackassical dome of disclosure proceedure, with inexhaustable conglomeration of language, above the allfired great leather-headed fungus of Michael Niprimungo, the gooseberry grinder, and in "the efforescence of the effusiveness" is "commensurase" to rise into husband, wife, sweetheart, or the pinnacle of the dome and combine "religious proclivities and political antecedents' co-equal and co-extensive and conglomerated lummaxes into one grand, great and incomto an impossibility to enumer- prehensible fissile that assimilates into nothate all the articles suitable for ing, and, like a bob-tail thomas cat, exposes 'nudity of naked form' around the imagin ry axis of where the tail Saur's, but to give the reader ought to be. Tyro admits his youth and inexperience, and does not presume to instruct the learned but simply by occasionally reporting some of the doings of our live, pleasant and growing town, keep it before the people as one of the places that does not exist only on paper, but as a reality, and if "Watchman" does not admit the statements made, he should have shown the folly of them by giving more exact ones. Well does Tyro remember when no cheap binding, but good and "Watchman" sat upon the walls as guardian substantial cloth binding and angel of the town, and all, whether religious moral, intellectual or political, had to pass under the chastening rod of his "phylosophicis an opportunity of securing at thought and advanced ideas." Yet, in the face of all this 'nudity of his nakedness, with all due respect to his advantage of years and trembling under his advanced training and culture, Tyro challenges him to successfully contradict the assertions he has made.

Against the qualifications or the legitimate acts of the Mayor in the discharge of his official duties, not one word has been uttered; it was only when he prostituted the dignity of his office to that of a quizz and a pry, and himself to that of a street brawler by publicly abusing the council, styling them "My Whisky Council," and other abusive and anjust epithets, simply because they did not see fit to rashly adopt his ideas of reform, was he criticised. An Important Offer.

Having recently established myself in Toedo, and knowing well my ability to cure chronic diseases of all kinds that are curable, I propose to make the following proposition to readers of this paper, in order to make it to their advantage to visit my office: Any person that is afflicted with disease who lives within a radius of fifty miles of Toledo, who wishes to visit me for treatment and can come on the railroad, will have his fare paid by me both ways. This is good only to January 1st, 1887. Those who don't wish to be treated will have nothing to pay for consultation, but will have to pay their own fare. My charges vary of course, according to the requirements of the case, but in no case will they exceed that of their skilled physicians, but will be less if any thing. The trustees of the Ohio Industrial Home, at Lancaster, have committed a great wrong upon the charges and a great outrage upon good sense. Supt. Hite is a Democrat. The majority of the board of trustees is Republican. Supt. Hite has filled the position of Superintendent acceptably for several years, but the trustees have decided to dismiss him on purely political grounds. Charles Douglass has been de-eided upon as Hite's successor. Douglass was formerly superintendent of this institution. He is in no sense a capable man for that position. While he was Superintendent, he was investigated twice. He once whipped a small boy most brutally because the little felwas accused of stealing a handkerchief which, it was subsequently discovered, he did not steal. He always had with him a coterie of pets, to the general demoralization of the home. 417 He was so generally incapable and inefficient that he had to be removed, but he refused to quit until a resolution was formally drawn up removing him. His management was so devoid of ability that the board, although having a Republican majority, couldn't stand him, but voted in a Democrat rather than longer leave the institution in his charge.

This is the sort of man who is to succeed a capable man simply because the latter is a Democrat. There are several hundred children in the institution, many of them orphans and all of them requiring special care and capability in heir management. Governor Foraker and his trustees violate their oath when they knowingly permit politics to work evil with these children.

If, for political or other reasons the removal or Supt. Hite became a necessity, the trustees should have elected some man who had not already proved incapable. The promotion of some of the subordinate officers of the institution, who are experienced and capable, would be a good idea. But to deliber ately choose one so utterly unfit and undeserving smacks of the meanest, most dangerous kind of political chica

The trustees will meet Dec. 23, to take final action in this matter. It is to be hoped that they, and the Governor, who is responsible for them, will listen to advice which is well meant.

WANTS TO WED AN INDIAN GIRL

Young Man in Nebraska Confider His Love Affair to Uncle Sam.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 11.—The evening Star has the following: A rather novel request was received to-day at the Interior Department from a young man living in Nebraska, who wants to marry a daughter of Standing Bear, a Sioux chief. He states who he is and incloses a photograph of the girl, who is very nice looking and was eduexted at Carlisle. The young man, however, wishes to go and live on the reservation with his prospective wife and her relatives, and, for this reason it was necessary to obtain the permission of the Interior Department. White men are not allowed to stay on an Indian are not allowed to stay on an Indian reservation unless they have authority from the government to do so, and so this young man was obliged to take the reveal his love affairs. The Secretary practical rather than its sentifrom its he could not prevent the young man marrying the girl, he could prevent him from going to live with the old folks, and if he was as anxious to marry the young woman as he professed to be, he might scratch around and provide her with a home. Secretary Lamar will write a letter to the ambitious lover and, while not discouraging the ardor of his love, will suggest the practical view of the situation, which seems to have escaped him. Until there is some change in the present plans of the young man the paternal benediction of the Interior Department will be with-

A Whole Family Killed in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.-Mrs. McClure and her grown daughter and son were asphyxiated by coal gas last night at their residence in the suburban town of Maplewood. They closed all the doors and windows tightly on retiring and forgot to replace the stove lid after reptenishing the parlor fire. THE INDIANA SENATORSHIP.

Belief That Mr. M'Donald Will be

Elected by the Legislature. Washington, Dec. 11, 1886.—Mr. Dalton, Postmuster of the House, who s from Indiana, says that all the advices from that State indicate the election of ex-Senator Joseph E. McDonald to the Senate as the successor of Senator Harrison. A similar condition of af-fairs existed in Indiana, he says, fortythree years ago, when the Legislature on joint ballot was Democratic by just two majority, as it will be when it meets in January. The Whigs were hopeful of electing their candidate and would have done so, but for the coup d'etat on the part of the Democrats. Two of the majority said they would not vote for Mr. Howard, who was the cancus nomi-

government into his confidence and nee. Balloting proceeded regardless of the opinion of their protests until they of the Interior considered the matter declared that if another Democratic candidate was not put they would vote mental side, and concluded that while for the Whig nominee. This resulted he could not prevent the young man in the withdrawal of Mr. Howard's name and the election of Mr. Edward H. Hannegan, who was subsequently Minister to Prusia, and whose son is now one of the officers of the Senate. What the friends of Mr. DcDonald fear is that several of the members of the Legislature, claiming close relations with the labor movements, may be prejudiced against Mr. McDonald on account of his recent connection as attorney in several important monopoly suits. He is one of the counsel for the American Telephone Company. He has also been prominent in the en-forcement of the driven well suits in Indiana-a patent, it is said; that has made the name of everybody connected with it odious in the eyes of the people against whom the claim has been enforced. If, as happened in 1843, when Senator Hannegan was elected, two or more of the Indiana legislators should oppose Mr. McDonald, Congressman Matson may be the compromise candidate, through Congressman Bynum would be very glad to serve his State for the next six years in the Senate.
